The Home of Practical Education

IN the modern course of study, the Greek and Latin of our forefathers is replaced by training in agricultural and industrial science. Women may now study not so much extremes in literature and art but rather domestic science—the science of home life. There is much of good in the Old Education. The New Education is a demand of the New Century. Your son and your daughter must measure up to the New Century.

Write to the President about the work you are contemplating.
